Project Brief and Timeline

Project Rationale

The Philippines had long responded to the call for climate education, pursuant to the Republic Act 9729 or the Climate Change Act of 2009. The Enhanced Basic Education Act of 2013 strengthened curriculum integration of key climate change concepts across grade levels. However, there is a gap between the formal curriculum and the learned curriculum.

While the competencies are already embedded in the curriculum, there is no monitoring of the actual delivery of these competencies.

Based on initial focus group discussions in DepEd DRRMS' Change the Current (CTC) activity, the development of a Biodiversity Toolkit for Teachers, and development of the Handbook for Teachers, aside from climate change competencies, teachers try to integrate climate change in other subjects.

However, the connection of concepts to climate change adaptation and mitigation is not formed. The impacts discussed are always related to typhoons and solid waste management. Teachers also reported a lack of mastery in climate change topics to effectively make connections to what is being experienced by the students.

With the much-needed training course for Filipino teachers, YSEALI Climate Changemakers aims to enable teachers to effectively teach climate change competencies, integrate climate change in other competencies, and commit to climate action.
